

The New Curve Ball in the Federal Job Application Process: SELF ASSESSMENT QUESTIONS

There is a new curve ball in federal government applications – self-assessment questions.Â Just when you thought you mastered the knowledge, skills and abilities (KSA statements), now you are also required to complete self-assessment questions for many coveted federal government positions.

Read More....